

THE HUNT FAMILY FOUNDATION 2014 ANNUAL REPORT

MISSION AND HISTORY

Since 1987, the Hunt Family Foundation (the "Foundation") has predominantly supported charitable organizations and initiatives that target the areas in and around El Paso County, Texas, Doña Ana County, New Mexico, Otero County, New Mexico, and Ciudad Juárez, Chihuahua, México ("The Borderplex"). The Foundation also supports organizations whose programs impact the state of Texas, and the nation as a whole.

Charitable giving is focused on healthcare, education, arts, local heritage, quality-of-life initiatives, and regional economic development. This report was prepared to provide transparency to the communities we serve.

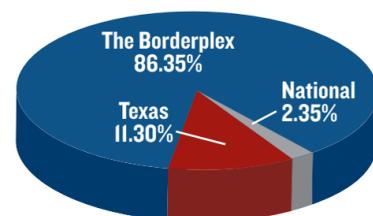

LONG-TERM GIVING

To promote program sustainability the Foundation awards multi-year commitments to organizations with a widespread and prolonged impact. Since inception, the Foundation has made grants and commitments to various organizations totaling $44,450,518. To encourage community participation, the Foundation continues to make multi-year commitments whereby they match private contributions made to charitable organizations.

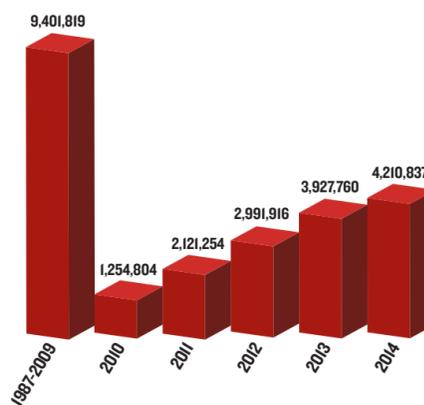

2014 YEAR IN REVIEW

Sixteen new multi-year commitments were made in 2014 totaling $6,651,000, of which 15 target The Borderplex. Of these new commitments, over half went towards education, including $2,700,000 to support the efforts of the Council of Regional Economic Expansion and Educational Development Corporation (CREEED) to advance economic expansion of El Paso and the surrounding areas by collaborating with public education providers to improve access to quality public education. To further our objective of improving healthcare and education in other parts of our region the Foundation has made commitments to the FEMAP Foundation ($500,000), the Lydia Patterson Institute ($750,000), and the Bridge of Southern New Mexico ($100,000).
